Punggol Waterway, to the Singapore Sports Hub and now to the heart of the city, with a twist. The Straits Times Run has been on a remarkable journey since it was launched three years ago and we are glad to have had many of you with us every step of the way. Indeed, it would not have been possible to be able to grow to the event we are today without the support of runners like you. It is why, for this year's ST Run in the City, we offered all previous ST Run participants a loyalty discount, as a gesture of gratitude for being a part of the event these past few years. And it is why every year, we aim to offer those who take part in the ST Run new, fresh ideas to add fun and novelty to the event experience.

We were the first to take runners to the Punggol Waterway in 2013 and were the first run at the new National Stadium a year later. This year, we were also the first to bring an element of Formula One to a Singapore run, incorporating grid girls and the iconic chequered flag to the event. There was even an F1 car at our post-race carnival, not something you see every day at a run.

In fact, some of you have told us that this year's post-race carnival, complete with food trucks, games, opportunities for pictures and the chance to meet S-League players, was the biggest yet at a local run. It looked like many had a good time and we hope you had fun too.

You can rest assured that we will be keeping all these in mind as we plan next year's event. One thing we hope will remain is the good weather we've enjoyed. We managed to avoid the haze last year, narrowly avoided a thunderstorm this year so we are keeping our fingers crossed that the streak continues.

I'd like to take this opportunity to thank you again for your support and congratulate you for successfully completing this year's ST Run. I look forward to seeing you at the next one.
